

Defensive Driving Course Circular

'Change to interior course times'

Please be advised that until further notice the morning course timings for all defensive driver training in the interior locations have been changed to begin at 08:00 instead of the traditional 07:00.

This is to avoid the need for people travelling from distant locations in the winter months to set off on their journeys when it is still dark/twilight. Please be advised that if this still means that you cannot begin your journey when it is daylight that you should arrange to travel the day before to attend the training and stay overnight or look to arrange for the training provider to provide defensive driver training at your own location if the numbers of trainees is sufficient.

The same principles with regard to night driving apply to travel home at the end of the courses.

The course timings for coastal driving courses have not been changed.

Regards

Chris Evans

Senior Corporate Road Safety Adviser

13th February 2011